

Marino Faliero: A tragedy

Hath seen the fourth part of a century fade, Since you, a guest to whom the vales were strange Where I sis whispers to the murmuring shade A bove her face by winds and willows made, And I, elate at heart with reverence, met. Change must give place to death ere I forget The pride that change of years has quenched not yet.
ii. Pride from profoundest humbleness of heart Born, self-uplift at once and self-subdued, Glowed, seeing his face whose hand had borne such part In so sublime and strange vicissitude As then filled all faint hearts with hope renewed To think upon, and triumph ;though the time Were dense and foul with darkness cast from crime A cross the heights that hope was fain to climb.(Typographical errors
